

The ND-SPARC Project is now ONLINE!

We are looking for families that have...

- A couple that is married or cohabitating,
- A typically developing teen between 10 and 18,
- And a child of any age with an intellectual or developmental disability.

FAMILIES CAN EARN UP TO $370 and PARTICIPATE FROM HOME!

The SPARC Project is a research study through the University of Notre Dame. Our goal is to improve families' conflict and communication strategies. We provide family members with information about different types of conflict and how it can impact marital, parent-child, and sibling relationships, as well as information on how to resolve conflicts and have more productive conversations.
